Johns Hopkins University offers two customizable degrees for individuals who want a comprehensive understanding of the intersection between the environment and public health.

Our Programs

Master of Health Science in Environmental Health (MHS)
- 9 months | Can be completed part-time, online
- Designed for applicants who wish to pursue an MD, PhD or a career in the intersection of environmental and public health

Master of Science in Environmental Health (ScM)
- 1.5 years
- Designed for applicants interested in hands-on experiences leading to research careers; good for students considering PhD programs

Design a Program to Match Your Interests

Choose from 5 areas of study
- Food Systems, Water, and Environmental Sustainability
- Health Security
- Population Environmental Health
- Pre-med
- Toxicology and Risk Assessment

Funding guide available

We have a comprehensive funding guide to help applicants identify opportunities for tuition and living support. Visit our page to request a guide.

Our graduates go on to lucrative and rewarding careers in the private sector, government, nonprofits, and academia.

- Doctoral Student
- Supervisory toxicologist
- Pharmaceutical consultant
- Radiation safety officer
- Health specialist
- Environmental scientist
- Environmental consultant
- Sustainability consultant
- Environmental policy
- Environmental justice
- Resource management
- Research or Teaching Professor
- Medical student

Make a difference

Master’s Degree in Environmental Health

- Johns Hopkins University offers two customizable degrees for individuals who want a comprehensive understanding of the intersection between the environment and public health.

FIND A PROGRAM TO MATCH YOUR GOALS

Our Programs

Master of Health Science in Environmental Health (MHS)
- 9 months | Can be completed part-time, online
- Designed for applicants who wish to pursue an MD, PhD or a career in the intersection of environmental and public health

Master of Science in Environmental Health (ScM)
- 1.5 years
- Designed for applicants interested in hands-on experiences leading to research careers; good for students considering PhD programs

Design a Program to Match Your Interests

Choose from 5 areas of study
- Food Systems, Water, and Environmental Sustainability
- Health Security
- Population Environmental Health
- Pre-med
- Toxicology and Risk Assessment

Funding guide available

We have a comprehensive funding guide to help applicants identify opportunities for tuition and living support. Visit our page to request a guide.

WWW.EHE.JHU.EDU | HOPKINS_EHE@JHU.EDU